MEET DANIEL

Desiree and Daniel’s son Daniel has high-functioning autism. While very intelligent, he wasn’t socializing with other students at the school he attended last year. Now that he’s enrolled in the Y’s After School Care Program in Plainfield, Daniel has opened up more, loves school and can’t wait to see his friends and after care instructors once school is out.

“The difference from last year to now is amazing,” Desiree said. “He used to sit in the corner by himself, maybe with a book, not talking to other kids. He would come home miserable and unhappy. But the Y’s After School Care Program has helped him. Now, he socializes with other children his age, plays with them and is a happy first grader. He’s like a different child. His after care counselor is wonderful. She takes the time to sit and listen to Daniel, as well as the other kids. She understands he learns differently. My husband and I are full-time working parents, so it’s reassuring to know Daniel is in such an encouraging, nurturing and supportive environment.”
